THE VIRGINIAN

VIRGINIA HIGH SCHOOL BRISTOL, VIRGINIA

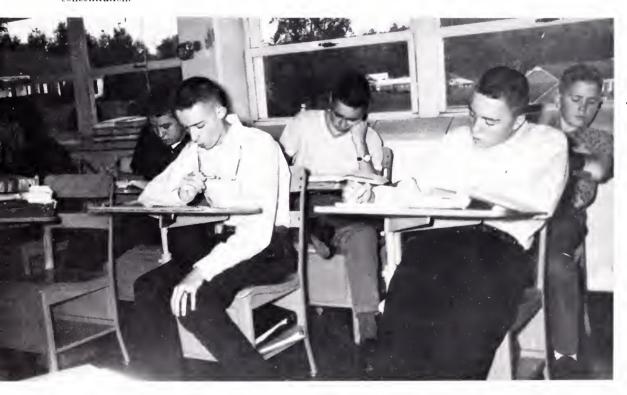

Teacher-pupil relationship is especially vital in the training of an individual scholastically and vocationally.

Needed information is found as quietness prevails in library.

Study halls provide time for lesson preparation. Posture is sometimes forgotten when in deep concentration.

SPIRIT OF VHS

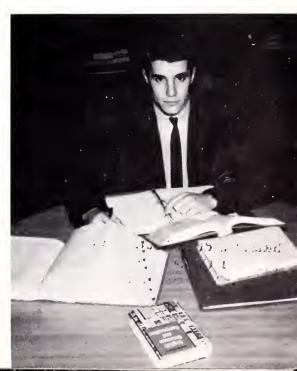

"The future still belongs to those who will work, those who can see ahead, those who are willing and able to lead."

IN PREPARATION

"Extra hours" are often necessary to eliminate the rough spots.

Resource material is available for the student who really wants to achieve.

This daily performance demonstrates the spirit of our students for school, state, and nation.

Early every morning the mobile book rack is visited by "book lovers."

The public address system is the main line of communication at V.H.S.

In school productions, many students are willing to spend the extra hours needed before the performance.

Due to the limited clerical help, students perform many duties in the school office.

On the job training usually brings a full-time job after graduation.

Materials for distribution often pass through many hands.

- IN PERFORMANCE

Commercial students frequently apply their skill by printing material for banquets, conventions, and other school activities.

Excellence in scholarship placed five in the National Honor Society.

Outstanding salesmanship is rewarded during the Junior Class magazine campaign.

The president and officers of the Student Cooperative Association set the pace for the student body.

The trophy is a symbol of the spirit of competition.

- IN ACHIEVEMENT

The grade is always a determining factor in the achievement of a student.

Freedom of expression is granted to entries in the "Voice of Democracy" contest.

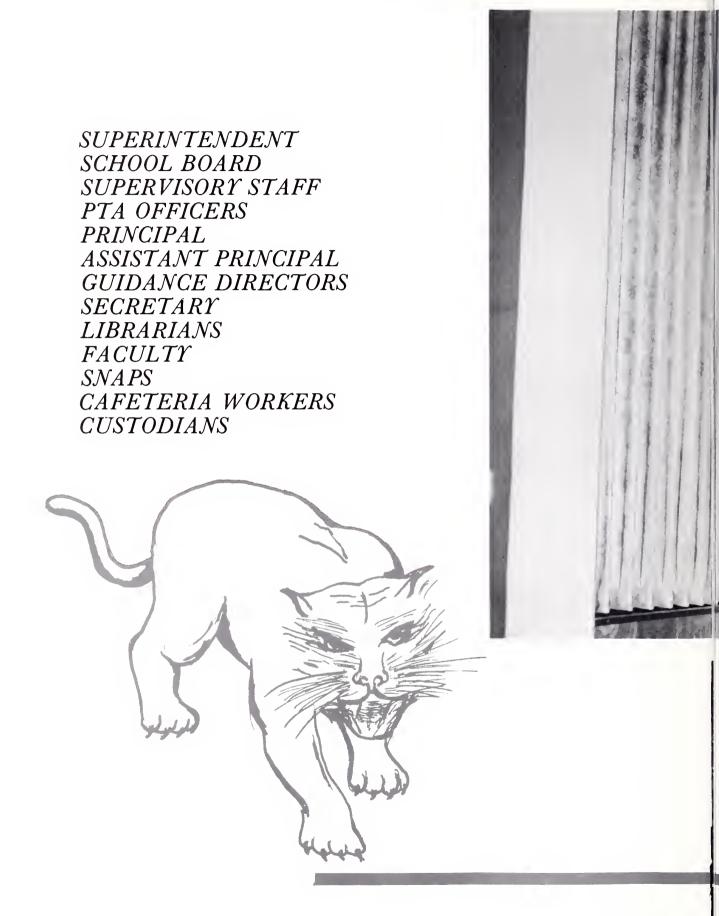

MR. CLARENCE W. WINKINSON

As school treasurer, Mr. Wilkinson completes entries in record book at the end of the day.

We believe your untiring efforts and sincere devotion to your work have won for you the respect, admiration, and love of all those who know you. You are a person of deep humility who is ever willing to share our moments of heartache as well as our times of happiness. Your ceaseless efforts and your sense of fairness have been invaluable to us. We feel indebted to you for your faithful contribution to the students and the administration of Virginia High School as teacher of government and algebra, as co-sponsor of the Hi-Y Club, and as school treasurer. In order that you might know that we are indeed appreciative for having such a fine person among us, we, the Class of 1963, proudly dedicate our yearbook to you, Mr. Clarence W. Wilkinson.
